Student Vote Will Play Major Role in Next Tuesday's Elections

Election Day is Tuesday. In Princeton, the interest in this year's election focused on the student vote — a brand new phenomenon for campaigners in Borough and Township because students haven't voted here since 1927.

And a corollary, of course, is the 18-year-old vote. Both these new developments will bring a lot of new voters to the polls Tuesday — probably 500 registered students in the Borough, and 130 in the Township. To say nothing of the 18-year-olds and over who decided to vote here by absentee ballot instead of voting in their college town.

Campaigning in the Borough's District One, where most of the dormitories are has been steady and vigorous. Robert W. Cawley, running for re-election as Borough mayor, remarked this week that he's been ringing the doorbells, figuratively, of individual student's rooms, checking voter registration lists to make sure nobody slips through the eye of the needle.

The Borough's race has been more interesting to follow than the Township's for many reasons. Under a new state law, who ever is elected mayor of the Borough on Tuesday will serve four years, instead of the traditional two.

Mr. Cawley, the incumbent, is a Bepublican in his late 40s, an engineer-executive with Western Electric, Edward Schneier, his challenger, is a Democrat in his early 30's. A founder of the Movement for a New Congress, he teaches political science at CUNY-City University of New York.

And there is a third name in the race this year: Marie Coan. A conservative, old-line Borough Democrat, Mrs. Coan decided to run as an Independent. Voters elected her Borough tax collector in the '60s, but she was defeated three years ago by the incumbent, Christine St. John, who isn't running again.

So the Boroogh, whoever is elected, will have the same mayor for the next four years without the need for another campaign only two years from now.

Two seats are at stake on Borough Council. Alice Male and John Strange, both Democrats, want to hold on to what they've got. Republicans Arthur Morgan and Thomas Cawley are the challengers.

If both Republicans win, Council will be divided along party lines by an even three-three split. If both Democrats win, Council will retain its present five-one Democratic majority. Borough mayors cannot vote, except to break a tie.

An interesting dash of spice in all this is Borough Councilman Robert Hendry. He's running for State Assembly on the Democratic ticket.

If he wins, whoever is elected mayor will have to appoint somebody to fill his seat. But even an elected Republican mayor, as Mayor Cawley learned early this year, bows to the majority on his Council when it comes to appointments: Mr. Cawley named Mr. Strange to fill out the remaining year in the Council term of Democrat James Andrews.

The question is — whose votes will Mrs. Coan get? The assumption has been that she will hurt Mr. Schneier (indeed, some will say that is exactly why she decided to run). However, Mr. Schneier, as a young and liberal Democrat, can be expected to count several student votes and they will probably more than make up for any he loses to Mrs. Coan.

Also, in a surprise endorsement, this week, another old-line Democrat, Edward Sweeney, came out in support of the Schneier-Male-Strange-Perone ticket, For veteran, conservative Borough Democrats, the nod of Ed Sweeney may mean a switch of votes from Coan to Schneier.

The presence of Mary Perone on that ticket may cost Mrs. Coan some votes, also. Miss Perone, like Mrs. Coan and Mr. Sweeney, has been identified for many years with the more conservative Democratic wing, yet she joined forces to run on a liberal ticket.

Borough Voters have another choice to make: how about a $750 yearly salary for Councilmen? It's on the ballot as a referendum.

Racial Problems Jeopardize Future of Athletics at Princeton High

A crisis involving suspension of a black Princeton High School football player and the threatened resignation of six assistant football coaches if he is re-instated, occupied the school board Tuesday night for two of the stormiest hours the board has weathered in some months. Late Breaking News In PHS Story Assistant football coaches at Princeton High School have consented to go back to work at least until Friday, when the School Board will reach a decision in the Wesley Hines case.

After an executive session that lasted until 3 a.m. Wednesday, the Board adjourned to meet again Wednesday night with young Hines himself — he was not present Tuesday — and with anyone he eares to bring. The Board hopes to reach a decision after Wednesday's meeting, but will certainly do so by Friday, according to Robert Bierman, president.

At the lengthy executive session, the Board talked with black athletes as a group and with the coaches as a group. In between, they talked with various white athletes.

"Although the student involved is a precipitating factor," Dr. Bierman said after the meeting, "the players see this as a relatively minor thing. The players, both black and white, are more concerned with playing conditions, medical attention, the relationship among themselves and with the coaches, and the general feeling of getting a fair shake."

No decision on whether Saturday's game at Perth Amboy will be played is expected before Friday. In the event that it is, the kickoff has been advanced from 2 until to 1:30 by Perth Amboy officials. They did so in order to provide better police protection before dark, since that school, too, has been hit by racial troubles this fall, William Bux, president of the Princeton Regional Education Association, speaking for the assistant coaches, took the ties involved.

Patricia Wertheimer had concurred with the decision of Head Football Coach Richard Wood that the football playing student, Wesley Hines, should be peranently suspended from the team. Hines had appealed that decision to the Superintendent, who then over-ruled both Dr. Wertheimer and Coach Wood, proposing instead a one-week suspension, followed by re-instatement.

Sleep away That Sunday rain -You get your hour Back ngain

Those 60 minutes you lost Those 60 minutes you lost when Daylight Saving began last April will be returned to you Sunday — at 2 a.m. to be exact. If you hear it raining when you wake up, you can turn over for another hour and still start the day off even.

Believe if or not, the Man won't promise that another wet weekend isn't on the way. All this unusual warmth could well produce rain some time Saturday, he reports. October, meanwhile, has produced temperatures far above normal—that first frost, when it does come, will have an extra hite.

WOULD YOU BUY PRODUCT FOR FREEHOLDER SUPPORT without checking competition?

We doubt that there is a person in America who would admit to such a practice. But right here in Mercer County many voters have been buying the same political product for 25 years.

The Republicans do not for one minute say that we have all the answers. However, we do say that a political machine that has been entrenched in power for a quarter-century, is not, and cannot be, responsive to the ever-increasing problems of the County.

Remember, up to 23% of your taxes go to Mercer County (run by the Freeholders). Think about that. Then try to name the services you get in return.

Both Joe Castoro and Ed Weihenmayer are experienced elected officials - at the local level. They know the municipal problems. Listen to what Castoro and Weihenmayer have to say. You just might like what you hear. Compare with their opponents.

By electing both Castoro and Weihenmayer, the Board of Freeholders will become 4-3 Republican. See what they stand for, what the entire Board would emphasize when Castoro and Weihenmayer are elected.

CASTORO-WEIHENMAYER TEAM

- State legislation for restructuring of govern-ment at County level—including greater con-trol over County Boards, Authorities and Commissions.
- Night meetings for the Board of Freeholders and meetings around the county to give more people access to county government
- Realignment of priorities of tax dollars; we realize taxes realistically cannot be reduced but feel a change of priorities is essential to insure maximum returns on our tax dollar.
- 4. A professional non-partisan county administrator responsible to the entire Board of Free-holders rather than to the Majority Party.
- Roebling Park improvements and expansion plus a higher priority for this County Park thru greater use of new federal funds.
- Greater activity and leadership from the Mer-cer County Environmental Advisory Council— specifically to protect County Parks and Open
- 7. A County Fire and Rescue Training School.
- 8. A regional solid waste disposal system with special emphasis on recycling.

BON APPETIT's Swiss Festival begins this week with cheese fondue demonstrations on Thursday, Friday and Saturday by Catherine Grubenmann, this year's Swiss Miss for the Switzerland Cheese Association. She cannot only explain how to store, serve and cook with cheese, but also describe the traditional step-by-step craftsmanship of Swiss cheesemaking. Bon Appetit is marking the event by reducing Swiss Emmental and Gruyere cheese from $1.95 per pound to $1.69. It will be shredded, if you like, so that it melts just right in your fondue pot. Bon Appetit's spacious new quarters at Princeton Shopping Center are on the corner near the bus stop.

OLD ARTS
In New Phases. The Eye for Art is showing decorative paper cutwork known as "Scherenchnitte" — a craft dating back to the Egyptians of 1400 BC — given a contemporary touch by Princeton's Gerry Kimble.

Her laey designs are reproduced on nolepaper and are very attractive. Mrs. Kimble calls her work "painting with hand scissors." It is imaginative and beautiful, with the designs cut in black and mounted on white.

The wife in Pinter's two-character play will be Carmen Apelgren, also n Intime performer. She was Nell in "Endgame," Joe in "Joe Egg" and Fra u Rose in "The Physicists."

Paul Ashin will be technical director for the production and Pamela Candusso, stage manager.

The entrancing work includes an owl in a very leafy tree. Another is called "Woodland Music."

Scherenschnitte was made famous by the Swiss, who produced designs from the 1800's until the middle of this century. There are only a handful of practitioners left. The Chinese as early as the 10th Century used the lacy cutouts in various festive ways often hanging them in their paperpaned windows. The cloistered societies of Germanic Europe in the 19th Century created filigreed pictures on a religious theme. In Poland today the cutwork is still a part of the folk culture.

The Eye for Art is also showing very fine quality rub.

The Touch (now playing) is Ingmar Bergman's first work in the English language. MinorBergman in many ways, it contains a great performance by Bibi Anderson as an adulterous wife.

Miss Anderson is Karen, a 34-year-old woman comfortably settled in a 15-year-old marriage to Andreas (Max von Sydow). Into their orderly, sundrenched house comes an American archeologist (Elliot Gould). Insecure, neurotic, he unexplainably attracts her and she begins her first extramarital affair. After two years, she finds she has "lost" years, she finds she has "lost her footing," that she cannot blend two lives into "one good, wise life."

Max von Sydow does won-ders with a cliche role. He and Miss Anderson act circles around Elliot Gould, whose awkwardness and inadequate-ness as the archeologist nearness as the archeologist hearly undermine the film.

Technically, it is a finely crafted movie. There is a fluid camera style, a witty, light touch in certain scenes and a very effective use of color to suggest mood and personality. In the writing, Bergman did a full-bodied job on the character of Karen.

JOB IN TOWN

As an independent liberal I am supporting Bob Cawley for re-election as mayor. He merits the enthusiastic backing of all progressives, regardless of party affiliation. Bob represents better government rather than a party line. I'm convinced that he has honorable intentions to help the town and seeks no personal gain.

He is hard-working and intelligent, and, taking a low-key approach, has translated a lot of good ideas into action.

He wants to use his position at Borough Hall to espouse political ideas which are relevant to the day-to-day issues we face. I urge all concerned parents who recognize Bob's commitment and contributions to Princeton's kids to get out and vote for him on November 2.

DAPHNE du MAURIER

This new book from the best-selling author of The House on the Strand and Rebecca includes a novella and four short stories — each one a gripping, masterfully written tale in the distinctive du Maurier manner. The settings range from Venice to the English countryside to Jerusalem of Passover. All the elements of her base works are here: well-drown, sympothetic characters; tightly woven plots; impeccable historical research and an uncanny, chilling blend of the real and the supernatural.

Don Allen Says CONSIDER THE CHINCHERINCHEE

That sounds like a line out of Mary Poppins, but actually the chincherinchee is a very lovely flower from South Africa. If you think that name is hard to say ponder its botanical name, - omithogalum. I think botanical names are stuffy don't you? - always sound like some dread disease. As in the sentence. "How's your ornithogalum." You'd expect an answer something like this, "Well it's better now, but I still can't eat any greasy foods."

Anyhow, this most unusual flower has a 12" to 20" spike with a raceme (multi-flowered head). Each raceme contains from 50 to 80 florets. When fully developed the head is the size of a medium mum. Each floret is about 1" across, the petals are snowy white around a small green eye.

At room temperature each floret will develop to the very tip of the raceme in 2 to 4 weeks, with a minimum of care. Remove bottom florets as they mature and dry, change water frequently, recut stems occasionally.

We know of no other cut flower that will last as long as chincherinchee. Now available at anytime from Allen's at $4.50 per dozen.

WHY L PLAN TO VOTE

DEMOCRATIC-by Ed Sweeney

As a lifelong resident of Princeton I have personally experienced many of the changes that have taken place. I can remember when you could walk down Nassau Street and greet just about everyone on a first-name hasis. Princeton now has a population of over 12,000. Along with this growth many problems have come about. Taxes are so overwhelming it is almost impossible for low and middle income people to own their own bomes, and because of the lack of other housing, are forced to move away. The drug situation has reached a critical stage. Traffic congestion and pollution are among the many other areas that must be dealt with.

I sincerely feel the entire Democratic slate, from Ned Schneier for Mayor to Mary Perone for Tax Collector, can deal with the many problems that so seriously affect Princeton. If Princeton is to progress, its leadership must be responsive to all segments of the community.

Ned Schneier, a tenured member of the CCNY faculty, is a homeowner and understands the taxpayers' problems. That is why he has set up a task force of economists to prepare management and hudget reforms. He's also concemed about the shortage of moderate priced housing and has called for a more aggressive search for State and Federal housing funds. His concerns are your concerns and he'll get things done.

Councilwoman Alice Male has long demonstrated her involvement with the community. Her husiness experience, deep concern for our young people, and sincerity to help all segments of our town qualify her for reelection. Alice, along with Councilman John Strange (whom I recommended to fill the unexpired term of Jim Andrews) have established a commission to deal with the problems of the elderly. Their appointments to Boards and Commissions are representative of all groups. John demonstrated his concern for improving our environment by introducing an ordinance to restrict the sale of non-returnable hottles. Alice and John believe our residents deserve a better local transportation system, and are trying to correct our mid-town traffic congestion. Both are working now to serve you. Let's help

Mary Perone, candidate for Tax Collector, is a lifelong finceton resident. Her business acumen combined with her involvement in county and community organizations make ber an exceptional candidate. Mary is Chairman of the Mercer County Welfare Board, and has served as a County Committeewoman in the 6th District for 23 years. Her concern for the people in her district is a year round commitment. I have worked with Mary on many projects and I respect ber ability to organize and get things done. Mary's dedication and abilities would be a tremendous asset for our community.

I urge you to join me on November 2nd and vote for this fine slate of Democratic Candidates.

EDGAR PALMER PORTRAIT UNVEILED: A newly-discovered portrait of Edgar Pahner, who gave his name, hacking and imagination to Paimer Square, was unveiled last week in the Nassau Inn. The artist who executed the portrait is unknown. Mr. Palmer, a Princeton University graduate with the class of 1903, was active in a variety of civic and academic affairs following his graduation. He conceived the idea of a modern town square in the 1920s, and devoted years to acquiring the land. He financed the project privately, mostly with his own funds. Shown here are James J. O'Connor, manager of the Nassau Inn with Hackett Stewart, long-time employee of the "Nass."

Land Use Study Essential.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Recent discussions in press reports and among candidates for local office emphasize that Princeton faces, in the months ahead, decisions on the very difficult question of additional housing units over and above those to be provided by Princeton Community Housing and the University. The figures range up to the 6,600 units forecast in the Sternlieb report.

Before any rational determination and the received and the demands they can be reached with the provided police and fire protection, and so on. These will inevitably be reflected in the tax rate and the ability of long-time residents on fixed incomes to stay in Princeton, as well as in the habitability of our town.

The citizens of Princeton are retitled to a pledge from Borough and Township candidates alike of their support, it elected, for appropriations to finance the most competent and thorough study that we can obtain of our resources and the demands they can be a provided by princeton and the demands they can be a provided by princeton as well as in the habitability of our town.

The citizens of Princeton are retitled to a pledge from Borough and Township candidates alike of their support.

Before any rational determination can be reached, we believe it is essential that a comprehensive, thorough study be made of all the scientific, economic, and engineering factors involved in land use, such as water resources and the demands they can meet.

Exhaust Testing Asked.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The League of Women Voters has urged Commissioner Sullivan and the Department of Environmental Protection

We are tired of demonstrations: let us be honest. We have walked, petitioned, pick-eted . . . and somehow the vast structure of the government does not seem to respond. Yet, if we believe in nonviolence, we should recall that drops of water wear away the strongest stone, very slowly, but very effectively.

For many of us the peace movement can be seen as a hobby . . If we demonstrate, or leaflet, it means a few hours out of our week. And if we get tired we can always just "drop out" and let someone else do the work.

And if the work doesn't get done, we don't notice the difference in our own lives — at least not immediately. (In the long rum of course the $20 expensive the $20 expensive the $20 expensive to recommend adoption of annual auto exhaust testing by the State of New Jersey.

It is projected that such testing would result in a 20-30 percent reduction in auto caused air pollutants. The fact that motor vehicles are a major source of air pollution (approximately 40 percent by weight nationwide), combined with the fact that New Jersey has the highest density of motor vehicles in the United States makes it imperative that this testing program be — Confinued on Next Page

For The Next Three Years.

REELECT MAYOR JAMES A. FLOYD and COMMITTEEMAN HARTMANN to Township Committee on NOVEMBER 2nd

Paid for by Friends of Floyd and Hartmann

Your Borough Candidates Robert Cawley, Arthur Morgan, and Thomas Cawley, Men Who Have Been There

You know, basically, when you talk about qualifications for leadership in local government, that political activity on the national scene, being against Vietnam before most people knew we were there, working for senators, etc., is not really relevant to the problems at hand. All the goodwill in the world cannot substitute for actual experience.

Your Republican Borough candidates are three men who are well aware of the Borough's problems because they have wrestled with them. They have been in responsible local government positions for several years and — strange as it may seem to recent Princeton residents — progress is being made.

Robert Cawley

- A Fair Housing-Ordinance was passed in 1970 at Bob Cawley's urging.
- Bob Cawley instituted police community relations training and monthly Borough-Township-University police meetings.
- Bob Cawley appointed Charles Cornforth to the Regional Sewer Planning Group. Mr. Cornforth devised an equitable-sharing cost plan that will save Princeton $2.5 million.
- Bab Cawley and Assemblyman William Schluter amended the upcoming bill exempting Prospect Avenue eating clubs from property taxes, thereby saving the Borough tax money which might have been lost.
- Bob Cawley set up discussion groups within the community to open lines of communication.
- Through Bob Cawley's initiative, the University now takes a more active role in the development of downtown Princeton.

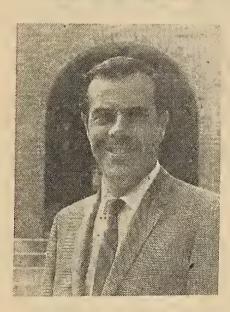

Arthur Morgan

Arthur Morgan chaired the Princeton Borough Planning Board when the present master plan and zoning ordinance, the first change in 17 years, was developed.

Arthur Morgan was one of the original proponents of the Borough acquiring Marquand Park.

Arthur Morgan sponsored PCH's Housing Projects as an individual citizen and also through the Planning Board.

Thomas Cawley

Tom Cawley instituted new modern budgeting in the Borough Engineering Department.

Tom Cawley was involved with Engineering Planning on the new Borough Hall and the new Library.

Tom Cawley did engineering lay-out for relocation of Wiggins-Avalon Street.

Tom Cawley was instrumental in achieving for the Borough's hourly employees at the garage and at the plant the same benefits the office workers at Barough Hall already had.

FOR INSTANCE:

Bob Cawley has been an active and effective mayor; Art Morgan has had many years experience in Princeton zoning and planning; Tom Cawley has been Boraugh engineer for five years.

In local government, few major decisions are made along party lines. The important criterion is experience. Your Republican Borough candidates have the experience. Three guys with a real stake in Princeton's betterment — for all.

Why I Plan To Vote REPUBLICAN

munity contains a combination of qualities and flavor which make it the envy of many of the neighboring towns. Such a reputation however, is not made overnight. Nor can it be preserved without the active concern and involvement of all of us. The Republican candidates for Borough office have clearly demonstrated their determination to improve the environmental quality of community life while, at the same dime, retaining much of that which has made Princeton a unique and distinctive town in this country.

One of the great needs we have is to develop long-range plans for the entire Princeton community. The Planning Board, of which Art Morgan is a member and was formerly Chairman, has a slready been very much involved in developing proposals. Mayor Cawley has exercised much eneeded leadership qualities by giving enthusiastic support to the Planning Board, of which would make the optimum use of the downtown area. The recently announced intention of the University to develop the area around Palmer Square has given added impetus to the revitalization of the town and has undersored the necessity of coordinating borough and university planning. I think that Bob has shown the initiative we need for the future development of town planning.

Moreover, Bob recently announced the formation of a special panel to investigate noise pollution, and, for some moise pollution, and, for some time, he has supported the re-routing of heavy commercial traffic around town instead of through it. But other innova-tive ways of limiting the scale of traffic in town must be found and I believe that Bob has the intelligence and commitment to do the job.

It may seem, at first appearances, that downtown Princeton is merely the business center of community, But

MEET ARTHUR MORGAN

A REPUBLICAN WHO DELIVERS RESULTS NOT PROMISES

For the past filteen years. Art Morgan has been actively involved in making Princeton a better town to live in . . , for everyone. In one way or another, be has been a part of the major issues affecting Princeton the state and the nation.

Art Morgan has marched, lobbied and given his time and money to community and national movements to end this tragic war,

ECOLOGY

He wrote the majority report of the Planning Board turning down the North Square "Tower" on ecological grounds. He was one of the original proponents of Marquand Park — the Borough's largest and most popular park — and served on the Park board for six years. He is a charter member of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, central Jersey's most active and effective conservation organization.

POLITICS

Art Morgan was one of the original local supporters of such progressive Republicans as Senator Clifford Case and Governor William Cahill, and has campaigned for both of them.

EDUCATION

Art was a member of the committee which merged two local private schools into what is now Princeton Day School, the state's largest private school. He served as vice chairman of the school board for three of its formative and most difficult years.

HOUSING

Through church groups and through private initiative, Art has been instrumental in providing private financing to Princeton residents so that they can afford to buy their own homes. He has sponsored PCH's housing projects personally and through the Planning Board.

PLANNING

As Planning Board Chairman, Art pushed through the first revision in the Borough's Master Plan (and zoning ordinance) in 17 years. This plan encourages multiple housing and conversions of older homes as a step toward solving Princeton's bousing shortage.

The Canes share an idea that is, today, distressingly rare. They think that wood furniture should be made of wood, brass lamps of brass, and that plastic is best restricted to toothbrush handles and toys. And they've done something about their idea; assembled several hundred fine upholstered pieces, museum re-creations, hand-crafted accessories, and custom-made furnishings, and put them all under one roof at Cane Farm. MAYOR FLOYD and COMMITTEEMAN HARTMANN NEED YOUR VOTE. THEY HAVE EARNED IT

HERE ARE SOME OF THE INITIATIVES THIS MAJORITY HAS ALREADY TAKEN

- TO SAVE MONEY:
 procedures for joint purchasing by Borough, Township and school district.
- TO HELP THE PROPERTY TAXPAYERS AND TO PROVIDE NEEDED HOUSING: a new zaning ordinance to permit rental of rooms by homeowners, and limited conversion to apartments.
- TO COMBAT DRUG ABUSE:

 creation of an intergovernmental coordinating committee with township, borough and school board membership.

- TO COMBAT POLLUTION AND TRAFFIC CONGESTION: creation of a joint transportation commission now developing plans for external parking areas and internal bus service.

Mayor Floyd and Committeeman Hartmann want to continue their work to make Township government more responsive to ALL the people of Princeton Township. They pledge to continue to work to ease the burden on every Princeton taxpayer and at the same time not hurt Princeton's environment or cut back on the municipal services all Princetonians need.

BOTH FLOYD AND HARTMANN MUST BE RE-ELECTED ON NOVEMBER 2nd TO CONTINUE THE MAJORITY THAT HAS DEMONSTRATED ITS CONCERN WITH ALL OF THE PEOPLE OF PRINCETON TOWNSHIP.

They include pottery, prints, paintings and drawings created here and abroad by members of the community.

At Gallery of Fine Art. Thomas George, in his outstanding career as a painter, has been inspired by nature and refined its forms into very simple and individualistic paintings. Beginning with finely wrought representational drawings, the artist develops and expands presentational drawings, the artist develops and expands shapes, for ms and harmonles found in his very literal subject. He then translates these visual relationships into a collection of softly-hued, carefully balance dpaintings that might be called non-objective save for the fact that the artist retains all the intricate balances and weights of bis original themes while expressing himself in a personal a and nostylistic man-

The current exhibition represents ten years of Tom George's work and traces his perceptions from the harder edge of earlier forms to his later work which is softer and more intricately developed. Throughout the collection the colors are mainly soft and cool and the shapes are simple. the shapes are simple.

The contrast of small forms with major volumes is very exciting, and is further enhanced by unusually painted textural areas, which, when played against the stark, flatly painted ar-eas, the heightens dissimil-arity and the relationships between forms.

This collection contains very large and very small paintings, as well as those of more moderate dimensions. The very small works are exceptional in that they embody all the vigor and impact of the large paintings, often in an area that does not exceed several square inches. Also notable in both the larger and smaller works is the unusual balance, the extra line and the collection contains er works is the unusual balance, the extra line and the slightly turned form that duplicates nature in its effect, though not io its aspect. The result is visually stimulating and, as in nature, combines peaceful harmonies with exciting and vigorous spatial relationships.

In the gallery at the rear, Irane Halsman exhibits "Women and the Wheel," an entertaining and artful collection of line etchings. The "Women" of the title are a group of fat, whimsical creatures who might be described as happily naked, rather than nude. They are all engaged in amusingly pursuing various activities involving the wheel. Merry charioteers, fire engine drivers, cyclists, skaters and other bare ladies in transit are gleefully represented in this series.

Transport is not the sole interest of Miss Halsman's ladies. Women and Music accompanies the Wheels series. Cellists as well as other musical types are busily engaged, unclad, in plying their musical arts.

How Big Was The Flood of August 28?

In its October newsletter, "Watershed News" the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association has come up with some interesting statistics on the amount of flooding caused by tropical storm Doria the last weekend in August.

In parts of the lower Millstone Valley, the Association reports, "the flood may have been a 200-year event." At Blackwell's Mills, where records have been kept since 1921, the worst flood of record (Sept. 21, 1938) reached a stage of 15.29 feet and discharged 18,300 cfs (cubic feet per second).

The August flood hit a peak of 18.68 feet at Blackwell's Mills and discharged 30,000-plus cfs. On Stony Brook in Princeton, where the 1955 flood reached a stage of 11.90 feet, the August flood measured 14.26 feet.

The U.S. Geological Survey is still analyzing data gathered during and after the storm, and should have a report ready by February 1972. The Association points out that flood data will be useful in flood plain zoning, drainage planning, flood insurance programs and a variety of community land use decisions, and reminds everyone that "future flood losses in our area will be in inverse proportion to the attention given these data. given these data.

Tigers Eye Brown as Step-Ladder to .500 Mark

Injuries Increasing. Princeton will seek not only to run its long-sought victory string to three, thus creating a good foundation for its climactic November games, but to avoid further depletion of its thin manpower through injury. If Princeton's football team can maintain the momentum it has generated in its past two games against an opponent whose 0-5 record invites a let-down, it will draw even with the .500 mark Saturday for the first time in six weeks.

Hoping for an upset to salvage a season that could see it lose them all, Brown will come to Palmer Stadium looking for its first victory in the series in 17 years. The kickoff is set for 1:30.

QUICK LOOK AT BROWN

OFFENSE: Out of balance. Lacks both power and breakway runners. Passing a threat but has not been consistent. OFFENSE: Better against lives than in non-league games. Can be expected to play rugged game against Tigers. CHIEF ASSET: Hopes that Princeton will take an 0-5 team too lightly.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Overall shortage of topflight personnel blended with lack of depth keeps Bruins in perennial role of ley League's basement tenant.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Triple Option.

A triple Obt was not cause for particular concern.

In addition, tackle Bill Brown and guard Emil Deliere have sat out action this month, so there are furrowed brows on the Tiger coaching staff as they look ahead to games with Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth. The situation is not improved by awareness that Brown invariably plays a highly competitive, physically-bruising game against many opponents, p a rticularily Princeton.

Defensively, Brown has been unpredictable. Week after it held league-leading Dartmouth to 10 points, it yielded 42 to a Colgate team that did not score here until the fourth quarter. Rhode Island, Yale and Penn are the other teams which have whip ped the which have whipped the Bruins.

The Quakers fumbled three times but their hosts lost the ball once that way themselves, stalled out on the three-yard line later and then threw an interception to keep the give-away contest on an even keel. Thereafter, however, sophomore Jim Flynn again gained in stature as a quarterback. FOOTBALL FACEOFF: What appears to be a faceoff with a football between Princeton High School wingback Tom Hofgesang and Bridgewater-Raritan's Andy Murdock is actually a pass from Joe McGuin, PHS tailback, which Murdock tipped at last second. Nothing else worked for Little Tigers, as Golden Falcons won, 37-8.

Defense Superior. While Penn was troubled by injuries to quarterback Tom Pinto and at least two of its top running backs, the job that Princeton's defensive unit did on the Quaker attack was nonetheless impressive. The losers were held to 203 yards, 10 completions out of 25 passes and a net of minus 5 on the ground for the second half.

The conversion from linebacker to defensive end of junior Mike K in c a id has meant a great deal, as has the particularly fine play at linebacker of junior Joe Parsons. He leads the team in tackles and added to his margin Saturday.

Technically, it was a "one-point safety." It is awarded when a defending player illegally too return to a ction this weekend.

The Princelon coach does appear to however, to be convinced that his defense is now extremely solid. "Off the way they have played in their last three games." he said. "I would hate to have to run against them."

SEASON GETS LONGER For Winless Little Tigars

Ahead for PHS was a Saturday game at Perth Amboy scheduled for a 2 p.m. kick-off. "Scheduled," because unless the showdown among seven assistant football coaches with the school administration over what the coaches feel was an unsatisfactory handling of a team discipline problem was resolved in time, there was a possibility that the game would be cancelled. Perth Amboy is usually a power to contend with. This year, however, it has, like PHS, failed to win a game. Both teams will be trying hard to nail down that elusive first win. For the Little Tigers it is a must: a defeat will make an 0-8 season a strong possibility. In the ten years Dick Wood had been coaching, no Blue and White Squad has ever failed to win at least three.

Princeton couldn't get any

Princeton couldn't get anything going for its part and Steve Sanford dropped back to punt. Center Jeff Lewis sailed the ball over Sanford's head. As he tried to pick it up, he kicked the ball and had to fall on it in the end zone for a Bridgewater safety. Twenty-five seconds left.

PHS then had an option: kick off or punt. Its decision to kick off was a mistake. Ned Fry's boot was gathered in on the dead run by Hobbs. He went right up the middle, turned it on and raced 65 yards for the TD. Not a single Little Tiger laid a hand on him. Fanelli ran the extra point over. Two minutes, eight seconds, 16 points. It was that kind of day.

For the first half, PHS had minus nine yards rushing to 130 for Bridgewater. It managed only three first downs to Bridgewater's nine.

For Winless PDS Eleven. There is some good news and some bad news to report this week about the Princeton Day football team, as it continues its search for its first victory of the season. The good news is that the Panther offense more than doubled its entire point out against Wardlaw, scoring 14. In four previous games it had managed just six points.

Unfortunately, at the same time, the defense gave up 58 points, and PDS suffered its worst defeat in its five year nistory of varsity football surpassing a 40-6 beating administered by a powerful Chestnut Hill team in 1968.

Mitchell Prep does not figure to give the Blue and White as rough a time, but the Panthers who will again be on the road, will prohably rate as underdogs in the 2 p..m. Sat-aged only three first downs to Bridgewater's nine.

PHS Starts to Move. PHS took the opening kickoff for the second half and aided by a roughing the passer penalty and a pass from Joe Mc Guinn to Gil Spencer, who made a nice run after he caught the bali, the Little Tigers had a first down on the two. On the next play, full-back Bobby Wiesbecker, hit hard, fumbled.

McGuinn, the embattled PIS tailback who, every time he made a completion, scemed to be thrown for a loss on the next play, refused to quit. He passed 17 yards to Dane Black, who carried to the Falcon five. Steve Sandford, also playing fullback as well as quarterback for this game, carried it over for the Little Tigers' only score. Fry booted the extra point.

The Falcons put it out of reach by scoring 16 points in a two-minute span just before the end of the half. After a 38-yard aerial from Fanelli had carried to the two. Boh Porcaro slanted in of tackle for the score, with 2:25 remaining in the half.

Dial calls

Here is a pointer on how to save money on out-of-state phone calls: Dial them yourself without the services of an operator.

No matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it always costs less when you dial station calls yourself. Especially on weeknights and weekends when savings are big.

For example. During weckend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute coast-to-coast station call costs $1.40 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator. But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax —if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, dial your own station calls without an operator. And save.

LET'S NOT SACRIFICE THE LOVELY CHARACTER OF PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

At the League of Women Volers meeting last week. one candidate for Township Committee, a Democrat, said that the present minimum residential lot size in the Township must be broken down to provide more lowcast housing.

The other Democrat said the only way the Township could control property taxes would be to become a Teterboro, where most property is industrialized.

We think there are hetter solutions to our problemssolutions which don't destroy the desirable character of the Township, as these proposals almost surely would.

HOUSING AND ZONING

who died October 14, will be held at 3 Sunday in the common room of Fine Hall, Prince-

Princeton Community Housing is about to build 240 low-and-middle-income units for rental to persons and families having Princelon connections - those working here or presently or formerly living here. Princeton University plans to build a similar garden aparlment complex of approximately 300 units, the occupancy of which will be similarly controlled.

We believe our residential zoning laws should be left intact until these projects are given a chance to meet the needs of "Princelon's own."

Uncontrolled housing on small lots will go to the highest bidder - not necessarily those with Princeton connections - and will bring more children to our schools withont producing enough taxes to pay for the added school and municipal costs. Currently, the laxes on even a $60,000 house do not pay the cost of two children in our regional schools.

IMPROVING OUR TAX BASE

We don't think it is necessary to make the Township another industrial fown to control our property taxes.

We have 400 acres of unused Township property which is zoned for office and research facilities. If elected, we propose to make a concerted effort to bring desirable organizations into this area which will provide substantial tax-producing rateables. This effort should be a joint one between the landowners in the office-research zone and the Township, with professional guidance.

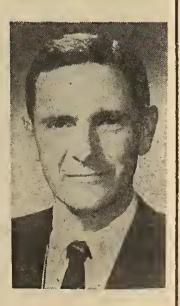

We believe the desirable characteristics of Princeton need not be sacrificed.

We believe that with positive thinking and action on Township Committee. we can meet the requirements of our growing population.

The Rising Generation

"TURF" FOR FLIGHT TWO

by Barrie Peterson

Specific factors present last spring led to the birth of Flight Two: closing of certain University facilities to non-students; the success of the Salamagundi youth group with Trinity Church's Fr. Gwinn in running dances; and the last days of the "Catacombs."

With the help of the University. Mayor Cawley, the United Fund, the schools, Chamber of Commerce, Jerry Saunders of the Y. Rev. Bill Kight, the Recreation Department and others, the Youth Concerns Committee carved out "turi" owned by Youth and Flight Two.

What have we learned since leaving the YCC nest six weeks ago?

It has taken a while for us to realize the full implications of not having a financial, legal official cover. Furthermore, because of the environment we have grown up in and our nostalgic memories of the free-floating sommer, we have well-developed prejudices against structures and we have hesitated to take decision-making authority.

But we learned that meetings of 40 people can better air feelings than make final decisions. We learned that insurance and tax-exempt status is impossible without incorporation which is impossible without Trustees and written operating procedures. We've learned that simple procedures can help facilitate expression of feelings and decisions; that the buck for taking responsibility has to stop with someone.

So we have created procedures and structures only as experience has shown their need. This learning process is as important to youth as the finished product.

ft was groovey to be in Flight Two over the summer. It still is — but we're also now more serious about what we're doing.

A central concept which has run through Flight Two's growth has been relationship. Freedom to create activities has always been related to responsibility to work for them. This is radically different from youth demanding something of adults or from adults giving youth something they've designed into which youth have to either fit or boycott. Ripping off each other is quite different from mutually beneficial relationship.

Three examples show how Flight Two strives to build relationships where individual interests are on the table and arrangments helpful to all are negotiated:

No money goes into events; rather they are self-supporting to the tune of over $200 a month. When admission is charged, it is not prohibitively high and the event is of high quality. At all events, maximum participation of all is a goal usually attained.

Secondly, decisions are a process of open discussion with checks and balances. Monday night's meetings solicit ideas and form task forces to plan upcoming events. Thursday afternoon's internal workings meetings are tor talking over feelings on how things have been going and can be improved. Staff, however, has final responsibility for Flight Two events and internal workings.

Thirdly, relationships have been formed along towngown lines. Recently, we worked with the lnn College Council to co-sponsor an event where there was shared responsibility and mutual gains and built in controls. We also use off-campus offices owned by the University.

From my work with Flight Two and before as a seminarian at the Catacombs and with Salamagundi, it is clear that "parenting" is shifting from hasy nuclear families to backup institutions such as schools, the Y's, churches, Scouts, recreation department. Fine programs and facilities are offered, but this is not what many affluent Princeton youth are deprived of.

What the Flight Two experience shows is that some of our most capable youth need the opportunity to take responsibility for their individual and group actions; the "turt' to grow together. They need to create a context within which to raise each other, to learn skills, to learn how adults manage (or don't manage) things — and thus become adults themselves. Tremendors personal growth has taken place. Summertime staffer Mardi Consodine writes us:

"Flight Two was the most important chapter in my lile so for."

Mike Friemon, also away at school, wrote:

"Flight Two bas taught me how to work with girls my age and to respect them even if it means admitting that some are smarter than I am. Ahem!"

This new youth-defined "turf" provides complimentary support for both the pressured families and the traditional institutions while building relationships with both.

As Flight Two takes its place within the Princeton complex, our experiences can continue to interact with families and institutions. In this relationship, hopefully all of us can be transformed for the better, thus improving Princeton as a community and as an environment within which to grow up, work, learn. . . and live.

Second Thoughts. By now, Mr. Wood also had second thoughts about his decision to take Hines back. "It wouldn't solve anything," he said. He added that if a small group were allowed to do anything they wanted to, it would affect the whole school.

"Football is a team game, and dammit, there's got to be team support."

One positive result that may come of all this, he continued, will be the hiring of a team trainer — something he has requested for years.

Maybe someday all cars will be built like the Citroen.

Maybe someday.

Maybe it depends on you. When you demand a car, for example, that would ride like a Rolls but costs like a Chevy. One that would take curves like a Maserati but seats a five full passangers. A car that would be in evary sense a luxury car—yet burns gas like a tiny Volkswagen (27 MPG). Maybe you could get that kind of car from Detroit if you demanded it. Or you could buy one right now. It's called a Citroen. Just go to your nearest Citroen dealer and test drive it. Learn how good other cars may someday be; and how someday is today with a Citroen.
